

Erythrina variegata L.

Family: Fabaceae

Common name: Tiger claw tree

Local name: Pangara

Importance:

- Used to produce nervine sedation, febrifuge, antiasthmatic and antiepileptic effects.
- Leaves are used for the treatment of liver trouble, convulsions and arthritis.
- Used in agroforestry systems for forage, hedges, live fences, live support, green manure and fodder.
- The foliage has a good nutritive value for most livestock.